Validity

Validity: Nine factors were considered in determining the validity of the information in this report. If a concern with validity is indicated, the cause may be identified by number below:

1. Too few adjectives were selected - the data is undependable.
2. Too many adjectives were selected - the data is undependable.
3. Few adjectives were selected - the data may be undependable, unless the selected adjectives are confirmed.
4. Many adjectives were selected - the data may be undependable, unless the selected adjectives are confirmed.
5. An erratic or unusual pattern of adjective selection, possibly an attempt to falsify responses, - the data may be undependable unless the selected adjectives are confirmed.
6. Probable random answering.
7. Potential random answering.
8. Potentially too positive.
9. Potentially too negative.

Introduction

Six virtues and 24 positive traits, character strengths, which are distributed among them have been defined by Peterson and Seligman (Character Strengths and Virtues, American Psychological Association and Oxford University Press, 2004). They state that the virtues are (1) universal, (2) consistently found throughout history, (3) commonly valued by moral philosophers and religious thinkers, and are core characteristics defined by character strengths. These virtues are:

The character strengths and virtues presented in this report are based on the measurement provided by the Adjective Check List and the BeMIS interpretations for the virtues and strengths described by Peterson and Seligman.

Profile

CSV Report

Wisdom and Knowledge

Cognitive strengths for acquiring, sharing, and utilizing knowledge.

Her perception of her environment is probably accurate. Interpersonal relationships are probably comfortable for her and she tends to be reliable, considerate, and unpretentious. She has a stronger interest in understanding the 'why' of things, including her own behavior and that of others, than do most people. She may be independent, autonomous, and indifferent to the feelings of others. Others may perceive her as somewhat egotistical and headstrong. Challenges found in complexity and disorder may be stimulating to her. She may enjoy change and variety, and rapidly comprehend problems or situations. Typically, she is seen as perceptive, spontaneous, and aesthetically inclined. She may avoid conflict and confrontation. She may feel inadequate when coping with stress and crisis, and retreat into fantasy on occasion. Others may be viewed as stronger and more effective than she is and be sought for support. She may prefer anonymity and freedom from conflict to the winning of interpersonal victories. She is probably conscientious, unassuming and patient, deferring to others without loss of self-respect. Tending to over-control her needs and impulses, she may often delay gratification unnecessarily. Although she may be strong in interpersonal effectiveness and tend to attain her goals, she may have some narcissistic or egotistical tendencies. Never the less, people are likely to see her as well-adjusted. She may tend to offer unsolicited advice and be condescending in her relations with others. She may be venturesome, aesthetically reactive, clever and responsive. People may see her as having a wide range of interests, cognitive ability, and ideational fluency. She may be easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and is likely to be irritated by interference or obstacles. She may pursue her own interests and may be indifferent to those of others, who she may view as adversaries to be defeated. She tends to seek adventure and activity while remaining sophisticated and relaxed. Creative, independent, spontaneous behavior is more important than conformity. Emphasizing self-sufficiency, she may be strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, indifferent to convention, and easily annoyed by those viewed as uninsightful, intellectually slow or undiscerning. Though talented, she may be uncomfortable with her own needs and those of others. She probably avoids intimacy, based on a candid sharing of significant feelings, sensing it as a danger. She tends to be unpretentious uncomplicated, forbearing, forthright, respectful of rules, and accepting of her role in life. She tends to be analytical, logical, astute, intellectually capable, self-disciplined, and prepared to do the planning and work necessary to attain her goals. People may view her as somewhat rigid.

Creativity

The ability to do and think differently from the norm and a sense of personal worth or harmony with a talent for originality.

Although she may be strong in interpersonal effectiveness and tend to attain her goals, she may have some narcissistic or egotistical tendencies. Never the less, people are likely to see her as well-adjusted. She may tend to offer unsolicited advice and be condescending in her relations with others. She may be venturesome, aesthetically reactive, clever and responsive. People may see her as having a wide range of interests, cognitive ability, and ideational fluency. She may be easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and is likely to be irritated by interference or obstacles. She may pursue her own interests and may be indifferent to those of others, who she may view as adversaries to be defeated.

Curiosity

The ability to think imaginatively, to bring new ideas and tangible products into being, to modify one's environment in accordance with aesthetic criteria, to picture the world of the past and the world of the future, and to discern the underlying elements of order in disorder, harmony in disharmony, and even sense in nonsense.

She tends to seek as much adventure and activity, while remaining sophisticated and relaxed, as do most people. Thus, she may equally experience conflicting interests and underachievement. She is probably as strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, and indifferent to convention as are most people. She tends to be as unpretentious, forbearing, forthright, and respectful of rules, as are most people. She is as analytical, logical, astute, and intellectually capable, as are most people.

Open-Mindedness

The ability to think abstractly, to detect logical relationships, and to apply general principles to the solution of specific problems. An "internal" focus where cognition, logic, reason, and introspection are emphasized.

She seeks adventure and activity while remaining sophisticated and relaxed; this may be a source of conflict. Academic underachievement is probable because physical activities may interfere with intellectual activity. Creative, independent, spontaneous behavior is more important than conformity. Always emphasizing self-sufficiency, she is strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, indifferent to convention (possibly rebellious and nonconforming), and easily annoyed by those viewed as uninsightful, intellectually slow or undiscerning. Though talented, she may be uncomfortable with her own needs and those of others. She avoids intimacy, based on a candid sharing of significant feelings, sensing it as a danger. She is unpretentious uncomplicated, forbearing, forthright, respectful of rules, and accepting of her role in life. She is analytical, logical, astute, intellectually capable, self-disciplined, and prepared to do the planning and work necessary to attain her goals. People may view her as rigid.

Love of Learning

Autonomous, independent and self-directed tendencies demonstrated through nonconforming, even rebellious, behavior, but accompanied by attempts to understand the 'why' of things and a tolerant acceptance of the behaviors of others.

She is about as interested as are most people in activities that require intellectual or cognitive abilities. She tends to act independently of others' social values and expectations about as often as do most people. She is similar to most people in her reaction to challenges, the seeking of novel experiences, and the avoidance of routine. She is as likely to seek subordinate roles in relationships and to delay her personal gratification, as are most people. Her interest in being original or thinking and acting differently from the norm is like that of most others. She is as judgmental, easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and irritated by interference or obstacles as are most people. She is probably as strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, and indifferent to convention as are most people.

Perspective

The ability to provide advice and counsel based on an (1) accurate perception of the environment, (2) emphasis on rationality and analysis over feelings and emotions, and (3) considerate but straight forward, candid interactions.

Her perception of her environment is probably accurate. Interpersonal relationships are probably comfortable for her and she tends to be reliable, considerate, and unpretentious. She may avoid conflict and confrontation. She may feel inadequate when coping with stress and crisis, and retreat into fantasy on occasion. Others may be viewed as stronger and more effective than she is and be sought for support. She tends to be analytical, logical, astute, intellectually capable, self-disciplined, and prepared to do the planning and work necessary to attain her goals. People may view her as somewhat rigid.

Courage

Emotional strengths for attaining gratification despite difficulties or opposition from others.

She is as likely as most people to be expressive and eager to explore the world around her. She may vacillate between pessimism and optimism, but tend to be accepting of herself and others. She is as likely to be hard working, goal directed, and determined to do well as are most people. Her motivation to succeed may lie less in competitive drives than in a need to live up to her own criteria. She is about as likely to persist in the completion of a time-consuming task or responsibility as are most people. Concerns with neatness, organization, or the planning of her activities are similar to those of most people. Her interest in seeking the company of her peers and to experience emotional satisfaction from interpersonal and erotic interactions with them is about like that of most others. She probably seeks as much sympathy, affection, and emotional support from others as do most people. The amount of self-confident, poised and self-assured behavior she may demonstrate is about like that of others. No more impatient to get the things she values than are most people, she is as likely to stress action, visible rewards, and self-gratification about as often as they do. She is about as likely to demonstrate helpfulness, sympathy, and affection, as are most others. She is as judgmental, easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and irritated by interference or obstacles as are most people. About as reliable and diligent as are most people, she is as attentive to duties, the responsibilities of adulthood, and obligations as they. She may have as much difficulty setting aside the roles she learned in childhood as do most people. This may be demonstrated through the same amount of independence and uncertainty about how to cope with the demands of life that they show. She is as analytical, logical, astute, and intellectually capable, as are most people.

Bravery

(The potential for:) Self-assured action to attain gratification despite obstacles, opposition, or risk.

The amount of self-confident, poised and self-assured behavior she may demonstrate is about like that of others. No more impatient to get the things she values than are most people, she is as likely to stress action, visible rewards, and self-gratification about as often as they do.

Persistence

Resourceful, resolute, and productive behavior in which power and intellectual ability are used for the completion of goal-oriented tasks.

She is likely to be hard working, goal directed, and determined to do well. Her motivation to succeed may lie less in competitive drives than in a strong need to live up to her own high and socially commendable criteria. Others are likely to acknowledge her energy and enterprise. However, they may also see elements of coercion, impatience, and self-aggrandizement in her actions. A conscientious worker, she probably has a strong sense of duty and avoids playfulness and non-essential activities. For her, stability and continuation is more important than the new and different. She is not likely to endure setbacks and distractions easily, nor is she likely to welcome change and variety; rather she steadily pursues her goals and seeks stability. She probably assumes tasks that require self-discipline and diligent effort as she seeks to avoid disorder, subjectivity, and impulsivity. Her preference is probably for objectivity, rationality, and reason. Reliable, ambitious, and diligent, she is self-disciplined and attentive to duties and obligations. This self-discipline is admirable, but may have been obtained at the cost of spontaneity, and the ability to enjoy peace and quiet. Even the expression of love, affection and tenderness may make her uncomfortable. She has difficulty setting aside roles she learned in childhood. This is demonstrated through a lack of independence and uncertainty about how to cope with the demands of adult life. Also, direct confrontation is feared and assiduously avoided. To compensate, she seeks satisfaction in daydreams and fantasies rather than face the threatening context of everyday life. She is analytical, logical, astute, intellectually capable, self-disciplined, and prepared to do the planning and work necessary to attain her goals. People may view her as rigid.

Integrity

Ethically consistent behavior based on clear-cut, internally consistent personal standards and values.

She is as likely as most people to be expressive and eager to explore the world around her. She may vacillate between pessimism and optimism, but tend to be accepting of herself and others. She probably seeks as much sympathy, affection, and emotional support from others as do most people. She is about as likely to demonstrate helpfulness, sympathy, and affection, as are most others. She is as judgmental, easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and irritated by interference or obstacles as are most people.

Vitality

Energetic behavior and responsiveness providing a vigorous and vivacious approach to life.

She is likely to keep people at a distance, fearing, perhaps, the challenges and opportunities of interpersonal life and erotic encounters. She may be inhibited, narrow in her scope of action, and afraid to take interpersonal risks.

CSV Report

Humanity

Interpersonal strengths providing social insight, assistance to others, and the capacity for enduring relationships.

She has less interest in understanding the 'why' of things, including her own behavior and that of others, than do most people. She may avoid close ties with others, perhaps because she is wary of their intentions. She may be defensive of her own motives and distrustful of those of others. Variety and change probably attract her, and she may find following carefully designed plans unpleasant and difficult. She may carry things to extremes to see if rules can be bent or broken. Frequently skeptical of the intentions of others, she tends to keep them at a distance and rejects their overtures. Her preference for autonomy and detachment may cause others to avoid her, since they may perceive her as opinionated and fault finding. Routine probably stifles her and she may seek change and variety. She may be dissatisfied with her current status and respond poorly to stress or social pressure. She is usually relaxed and responsive, but is probably not always effective in coping with the demands of work and the responsibilities of adulthood.

Love

The capacity for compassionate relationships in which support, stability, and acceptance are offered.

Frequently skeptical of the intentions of others, she tends to keep them at a distance and rejects their overtures. Her preference for autonomy and detachment may cause others to avoid her, since they may perceive her as opinionated and fault finding. Routine probably stifles her and she may seek change and variety. She may be dissatisfied with her current status and respond poorly to stress or social pressure.

Kindness

Engaging in attentive behavior and the fulfillment of duties that provide material or emotional benefits to others.

Her involvement in behavior, which provides material or emotional support to others, is about as frequent as that of most people. About as reliable and diligent as are most people, she is as attentive to duties, the responsibilities of adulthood, and obligations as they.

Social Intelligence

The application of cognitive activity to understand the dynamics of behavior and effectively engage others.

She is about as interested as are most people in activities that require intellectual or cognitive abilities. Her involvement in behavior, which provides material or emotional support to others, is about as frequent as that of most people. A commitment to duties and obligations, like that of most people, causes a similar reluctance to deviate from agreed-upon courses of action. About as reliable and diligent as are most people, she is as attentive to duties, the responsibilities of adulthood, and obligations as they.

Justice

Interpersonal strengths promoting equality, allowing leadership, and the fulfillment organizational and membership responsibilities.

She may vacillate between pessimism and optimism, but tend to be accepting of herself and others. She is as likely to be hard working, goal directed, and determined to do well as are most people. Her motivation to succeed may lie less in competitive drives than in a need to live up to her own criteria. Her need to lead others (groups) and those with whom she has relationships is like that of most others. Concerns with neatness, organization, or the planning of her activities are similar to those of most people. She acts aggressively, with behavior that may be perceived by others as an attack or hurtful, about as often as do most people. Her ability to 'love and work', Freud's criterion of personal adjustment, is like that of most others and suggests that her ability to cope with situational and interpersonal demands should be as well. She is as judgmental, easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and irritated by interference or obstacles as are most people.

Citizenship

The commitment to duty, valuing good organization and planning, and fulfillment of responsibilities.

Concerns with neatness, organization, or the planning of her activities are similar to those of most people. Her ability to 'love and work', Freud's criterion of personal adjustment, is like that of most others and suggests that her ability to cope with situational and interpersonal demands should be as well.

Fairness

Tolerant, forbearing, and conciliatory evaluation of other's behavior.

She may seek the company of others and be tactful, tolerant, and not easily offended. She may seek to avoid confrontation or conflict and be unlikely to make demands on others. Interpersonally, she may be forbearing and conciliatory. However, this does not indicate comfort with or the acceptance of the others' behavior - just a desire to avoid the conflict that might occur should she speak out. She may be interdependent and tolerant of the fears and weakness of others. It is also likely that she values bringing people together, reducing conflicts, and sharing in the rewards of social living.

Leadership

The seeking and maintaining of positions of influence through which goals may be attained.

She may be hard working and goal directed. Her motivation may be based more on attaining her goals than competition. Her need to lead others (groups) and those with whom she has relationships is a little stronger than that of most others.

Temperance

Strengths that foster interpersonal acceptance and intrapersonal comfort.

The frequency of acting in ways to attract the immediate attention of others is similar to that of others. She is as likely to seek subordinate roles in relationships and to delay her personal gratification, as are most people. She is as likely to exercise self-control and delay her actions as are most people. She may have as much difficulty setting aside the roles she learned in childhood as do most people. This may be demonstrated through the same amount of independence and uncertainty about how to cope with the demands of life that they show. She is probably as strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, and indifferent to convention as are most people. She tends to be as unpretentious, forbearing, forthright, and respectful of rules, as are most people. She is as analytical, logical, astute, and intellectually capable, as are most people.

Forgiveness

Unpretentious, forthright, and forbearing behavior based on a respect for rules and the extension of trust to others.

She may be practical and predictable in her thought and perception, and tolerant of the ineptitude and intellectual shortcomings in others. While intelligent and inventive, she may also be anxious, ill at ease, and preoccupied. Often keeping people at a distance, she is probably skeptical of their intentions and may feel easily alienated.

Humility

Conscientious action but with the avoidance of prominence, recognition, or attention.

The frequency of acting in ways to attract the immediate attention of others is similar to that of others. She is as likely to seek subordinate roles in relationships and to delay her personal gratification, as are most people. She may have as much difficulty setting aside the roles she learned in childhood as do most people. This may be demonstrated through the same amount of independence and uncertainty about how to cope with the demands of life that they show.

Prudence

Logical, rational, analysis with an avoidance of emotionalism in planning and the pursuit of gratification.

She tends to be analytical, logical, astute, intellectually capable, self-disciplined, and prepared to do the planning and work necessary to attain her goals. People may view her as somewhat rigid.

Self-Regulation

Diligence with an attention to duty and an avoidance of impulsive or unfocused action.

She is as likely to exercise self-control and delay her actions as are most people.

Transcendence

Strengths that open personal boundaries to events and experiences the exceed common limitations.

She is basically satisfied with herself and she believes that her behavior is appropriate. She is about as likely to persist in the completion of a time-consuming task or responsibility as are most people. Concerns with neatness, organization, or the planning of her activities are similar to those of most people. She tends to act independently of others' social values and expectations about as often as do most people. She is similar to most people in her reaction to challenges, the seeking of novel experiences, and the avoidance of routine. The tendency to 'put herself down' through self-criticism, guilt, or social impotence is about like that of others. She is about as likely to demonstrate helpfulness, sympathy, and affection, as are most others. As ebullient, enterprising, and pleasure seeking as are most people, she tends to exercise as much self-restraint in her search for pleasure as they do. She tends to seek as much adventure and activity, while remaining sophisticated and relaxed, as do most people. Thus, she may equally experience conflicting interests and underachievement.

Aestheticism

Positive stimulation derived from complexity, novelty, and even disorder.

She is similar to most people in her reaction to challenges, the seeking of novel experiences, and the avoidance of routine.

Gratitude

Appreciative, considerate, and compassionate attitudes and actions, that may become submissive when in excess.

She respond quickly to others and to situations, certain that she is right. She has defined how others should treat her and what she should get in life, and is insistent on obtaining both. She accepts who she is and, wanting to do things her way, is unlikely to accept or act on professional advice or counseling. She may be comfortable in a gentle, unambitious, and other-directed role. More or less happy with herself, she sees little need for counseling or personal change. Skeptical of the intentions of others, she keeps them at a distance and rejects their overtures. Her preference for autonomy and detachment may cause others to avoid her, since they may perceive her as opinionated and fault finding.

Hope

General ambition and optimism which are maintained even when confronted with adversity.

She is basically satisfied with herself and she believes that her behavior is appropriate.

Humor

Attitudes of playfulness and impulsivity which are expressed in humorous and pleasure-seeking behavior.

She may be moderate, cautious, and slow to respond in interpersonal encounters or pleasurable activities. Others may view her as self-denying and lacking in excitement. She tends to be prudent and vigilant with the ability to plan ahead. This allows her to avoid intemperance and undue impulsiveness. Her likely desire for order may also explain a tendency toward strong opinions on ethical issues.

Spirituality

Stable, consistent, and conservative behavior guided by moralistic attitudes formed from valued and trusted direction.

She may be conscientious and, with a strong sense of duty, avoid playfulness and non-essential activities. For her, stability and continuation may be more important than the new and different. A commitment to duties and obligations, with a reluctance to deviate from agreed-upon courses of action may make her appear rigid at times. She may work hard to see that consensual goals are attained and be a steadying influence upon others. Valuing good organization and careful planning, she tends to avoid emotionalism, but may become dissatisfied when people or events interfere with her plans.
