Introduction

Six virtues and 24 positive traits, character strengths, which are distributed among them have been defined by Peterson and Seligman (Character Strengths and Virtues, American Psychological Association and Oxford University Press, 2004). They state that the virtues are (1) universal, (2) consistently found throughout history, (3) commonly valued by moral philosophers and religious thinkers, and are core characteristics defined by character strengths. These virtues are:

The character strengths and virtues presented in this report are based on the measurement provided by the Adjective Check List and the BeMIS interpretations for the virtues and strengths described by Peterson and Seligman.

Profile

CSV Report

Wisdom and Knowledge

Cognitive strengths for acquiring, sharing, and utilizing knowledge.

His perception of his environment is probably similar to that of most other people, allowing him to interact as effectively as do most people. He is about as interested as are most people in activities that require intellectual or cognitive abilities. He tends to act independently of others' social values and expectations about as often as do most people. He is similar to most people in his reaction to challenges, the seeking of novel experiences, and the avoidance of routine. He probably seeks as much sympathy, affection, and emotional support from others as do most people. He is as likely to seek subordinate roles in relationships and to delay his personal gratification, as are most people. He is as self-satisfied and comfortable with himself as are most people. His interest in being original or thinking and acting differently from the norm is like that of most others. He is as judgmental, easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and irritated by interference or obstacles as are most people. He tends to seek as much adventure and activity, while remaining sophisticated and relaxed, as do most people. Thus, he may equally experience conflicting interests and underachievement. He is probably as strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, and indifferent to convention as are most people. He tends to be as unpretentious, forbearing, forthright, and respectful of rules, as are most people. He is as analytical, logical, astute, and intellectually capable, as are most people.

Creativity

The ability to do and think differently from the norm and a sense of personal worth or harmony with a talent for originality.

He is as self-satisfied and comfortable with himself as are most people. His interest in being original or thinking and acting differently from the norm is like that of most others. He is as judgmental, easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and irritated by interference or obstacles as are most people.

Curiosity

The ability to think imaginatively, to bring new ideas and tangible products into being, to modify one's environment in accordance with aesthetic criteria, to picture the world of the past and the world of the future, and to discern the underlying elements of order in disorder, harmony in disharmony, and even sense in nonsense.

He seeks adventure and activity while remaining sophisticated and relaxed; this may be a source of conflict. Academic underachievement is probable because physical activities may interfere with intellectual activity. Creative, independent, spontaneous behavior is more important than conformity. Always emphasizing self-sufficiency, he is strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, indifferent to convention (possibly rebellious and nonconforming), and easily annoyed by those viewed as uninsightful, intellectually slow or undiscerning. Though talented, he may be uncomfortable with his own needs and those of others. He avoids intimacy, based on a candid sharing of significant feelings, sensing it as a danger. He is unpretentious uncomplicated, forbearing, forthright, respectful of rules, and accepting of his role in life. He is analytical, logical, astute, intellectually capable, self-disciplined, and prepared to do the planning and work necessary to attain his goals. People may view him as rigid.

Open-Mindedness

The ability to think abstractly, to detect logical relationships, and to apply general principles to the solution of specific problems. An “internal” focus where cognition, logic, reason, and introspection are emphasized.

CSV Report

He tends to seek as much adventure and activity, while remaining sophisticated and relaxed, as do most people. Thus, he may equally experience conflicting interests and underachievement. He is probably as strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, and indifferent to convention as are most people. He tends to be as unpretentious, forbearing, forthright, and respectful of rules, as are most people. He is as analytical, logical, astute, and intellectually capable, as are most people.

Love of Learning

Autonomous, independent and self-directed tendencies demonstrated through nonconforming, even rebellious, behavior, but accompanied by attempts to understand the ‘why’ of things and a tolerant acceptance of the behaviors of others.

He has a stronger interest in understanding the 'why' of things, including his own behavior and that of other's, than do most people. He may be independent, autonomous, and indifferent to the feelings of others. Others may perceive him as somewhat egotistical and headstrong. Challenges found in complexity and disorder may be stimulating to him. He may enjoy change and variety, and rapidly comprehend problems or situations. Typically, he is seen as perceptive, spontaneous, and aesthetically inclined. He may prefer anonymity and freedom from conflict to the winning of interpersonal victories. He is probably conscientious, unassuming and patient, deferring to others without loss of self-respect. Tending to over-control his needs and impulses, he may often delay gratification unnecessarily. He may be venturesome, aesthetically reactive, clever and responsive. People may see him as having a wide range of interests, cognitive ability, and ideational fluency. He may be easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and is likely to be irritated by interference or obstacles. He may pursue his own interests and may be indifferent to those of others, who he may view as adversaries to be defeated. Emphasizing self-sufficiency, he may be strong-willed, original in thought and perception, aesthetically sensitive, indifferent to convention, and easily annoyed by those viewed as uninsightful, intellectually slow or undiscerning. Though talented, he may be uncomfortable with his own needs and those of others. He probably avoids intimacy, based on a candid sharing of significant feelings, sensing it as a danger.

Perspective

The ability to provide advice and counsel based on an (1) accurate perception of the environment, (2) emphasis on rationality and analysis over feelings and emotions, and (3) considerate but straight forward, candid interactions.

His perception of his environment is probably similar to that of most other people, allowing him to interact as effectively as do most people. He probably seeks as much sympathy, affection, and emotional support from others as do most people. He is as analytical, logical, astute, and intellectually capable, as are most people.

CSV Report

Courage

Emotional strengths for attaining gratification despite difficulties or opposition from others.

He is as likely as most people to be expressive and eager to explore the world around him. He may vacillate between pessimism and optimism, but tend to be accepting of himself and others. He is as likely to be hard working, goal directed, and determined to do well as are most people. His motivation to succeed may lie less in competitive drives than in a need to live up to his own criteria. He is about as likely to persist in the completion of a time-consuming task or responsibility as are most people. Concerns with neatness, organization, or the planning of his activities are similar to those of most people. His interest in seeking the company of his peers and to experience emotional satisfaction from interpersonal and erotic interactions with them is about like that of most others. He probably seeks as much sympathy, affection, and emotional support from others as do most people. The amount of self-confident, poised and self-assured behavior he may demonstrate is about like that of others. No more impatient to get the things he values than are most people, he is as likely to stress action, visible rewards, and self-gratification about as often as they do. He is about as likely to demonstrate helpfulness, sympathy, and affection, as are most others. He is as judgmental, easily angered, skeptical, counteractive, and irritated by interference or obstacles as are most people. About as reliable and diligent as are most people, he is as attentive to duties, the responsibilities of adulthood, and obligations as they. He may have as much difficulty setting aside the roles he learned in childhood as do most people. This may be demonstrated through the same amount of independence and uncertainty about how to cope with the demands of life that they show. He is as analytical, logical, astute, and intellectually capable, as are most people.

Bravery

(The potential for:) Self-assured action to attain gratification despite obstacles, opposition, or risk.

The amount of self-confident, poised and self-assured behavior he may demonstrate is about like that of others. No more impatient to get the things he values than are most people, he is as likely to stress action, visible rewards, and self-gratification about as often as they do.

Persistence

Resourceful, resolute, and productive behavior in which power and intellectual ability are used for the completion of goal-oriented tasks.

He is more easygoing and low-key than most people, and may have difficulty in accomplishing his plans. He may be leisurely, easily distracted and find it difficult to complete time-consuming tasks and responsibilities. He may desire gratification with little delay, take pleasure in the here and now, and be somewhat uninhibited, reactive, and expressive - yet able to fulfill responsibilities. He is usually relaxed and responsive, but is probably not always effective in coping with the demands of work and the responsibilities of adulthood. While autonomous and effective, he may be inconsiderate. He is likely to seek power, success, and tangible accomplishments in a world free of subjective concern and worry. He tends to be independent and flexible, and may delight in informality and relaxation, but he may be influenced by illogical concerns.

Integrity

Ethically consistent behavior based on clear-cut, internally consistent personal standards and values.

He is as likely as most people to be expressive and eager to explore the world around him. He may
